Chamber music is a form of classical music that is composed for a small group of instruments—traditionally a group that could fit in a palace chamber or a large room. Most broadly, it includes any art music that is performed by a small number of performers, with one performer to a part (in contrast to orchestral music, in which each string part is played by a number of performers).

It sounds like your audio quality dialled back too so it might be that your internet and/or CPU isn't strong enough to handle the bit rate. I use Nvidia Share to record clips, you can tell it to record at whatever framerate you want, and provided you have a supported video card, it has absolutely no performance hit because it uses NVFBC to grab the video frames right off the display buffer chip.
